VÄSBY STRANDMARK

Between Letberget and Viken there is a small strip of coastal heathland and a sandy beach. In the summer the heath is full of thyme, sandy everlasting and wind flowers..

The mixture of bare sand and flowering heath is a good environment for many insects.

Highlights: Discover the sea holly, a thorny but rare plant with blue flowers that grows mainly on sandy beaches. Sea holly is critically endangered!

NYHAMNSLÄGE-STRANDBADENS KUSTHED

Ancient heathland with fine flora, an inviting sandy beach and a ridge near Kullaberg and Mölle in the north. The shallow coastal area and reef at Kullens Harsbad are important resting areas for seabirds. Various waders, ducks and plovers can be seen throughout the year.

NYHAMNSLÄGE-LERHAMNS KUSTHED

The stretch of coast between Leeharmn and Nyhamnsläge is characterised by salt marshes, rocky beaches and windswept bushes. Wind, sea and grazing animals have shaped the open landscape, which in summer glows yellow and purple with yellow moon, thrift and thyme.

purple with yellow moon, thrift and thyme.

Highlights: The small pools are home to bell frogs and salamanders.

MÖLLEHÄSSLE

Salty, grazed beach meadows southeast of the village of Mölle, framed by winding stone fences and windswept trees. In early summer, orchids and beach grass bloom and the lark's call can be heard in the wind.

Highlights: The sunset over the sea and the sound of bell frogs singing from the shallow ponds.

KULLABERG

Wild, beautiful and wonderful. Like a green sinuous dragon, the primeval ridge of Kullaberg towers over the tip of the Kulla Peninsula. In places, the mountain plunges almost 100 metres straight into the sea. The dramatic coastline is carved with coves, cliffs, caves and sea stacks that invite adventure. Beneath the surface is a diving paradise and Sweden's only resident whale, the porpoise. A hike around the mountains takes you through lush deciduous forest, down deep ravines and up to pastures with spectacular views.

Highlights: Kullaberg is an outdoor enthusiast's dream - visit the lighthouse, hike, climb, snorkel, fish, birdwatching or sea kayak. The list goes on and on!

LUNNABJÄR

A small hillside lined with ancient oak trees, surrounded by meadows and fields.

Highlights: Spring flora including spring onions, marsh marigold and swallow-wort.

NABBEN

An undeveloped strip of rocky coastal heathland stretches from Arild eastwards towards Skäret.

The mountain rises steeply from the ancient barren land, sheep and cows graze in the shade of the trees. Beneath it are fields of pebbles, rounded stones and rauks carved by the sea over thousands of years.

Highlights: The mile-long view from Nabbahögarna (Bronze Age burial mounds) to Arild, the northern slopes of Kullaberg, further out to Skälderviken and the Bjäre peninsula.

SKÄRET

A small fractured ancient cultural landscape sandwiched between buildings. In several places in the reserve there are pastures with scattered older trees and cairns. Most of the trails in the area are remnants of old footpaths and roads.

Highlights: If you are lucky, you might catch a glimpse of a rare black viper sunning itself on a hillside.

BÖLSÅKRA - TRANEKÄRR

The rocky coastline between Svanshall and Skäret offers wonderful views of Skälderviken and Hallands Väderö in the distance. You walk through heather-covered cliffs and small harbours.

Highlights: In the far east is a water-filled quarry, a perfect place for a picnic and play.

JONSTORP-VEGEÅS MYNNING

From Svanshall in the west to Utvälinge in the east, Skälderviken is a largely marine nature reserve. Seaweed beds serve as nurseries for flatfish and cod. At low tide, the sandy and muddy bottoms are exposed, providing a feast for birds.

Highlights: Rönnen, Själrönnen and Sandön in particular attract many bird watchers. If you are lucky, you may even see seals.

GÖRSLÖVSÅNS MADER

The fields along the Görslövsån river are regularly flooded, hence the word "mad", a southern Swedish word for wet fields where hay is harvested.

Highlights: Görslövsån is particularly rich in bird life, especially when the water level is high.

Large numbers of geese, ducks and waders nest and rest on the river every year. Birds of prey sit on poles and look out for voles.

REMEMBER!

Nature reserves often have special rules that restrict public access. At each reserve there are information signs where you can read the rules that apply to the particular reserve you are visiting.
